

Main Street Project Progress Update

What's Been Going On?

Oh the joys of construction in the fall. This week saw progress on our major work items, a bit of water pipe was installed, conduit was glued and pointed in the right direction, and we even got some storm line installed. But there was a lot of construction crews turned flood fighters due to some of the crazy rain that hit us. The theme of the week seemed to be if it's not mud, its water.

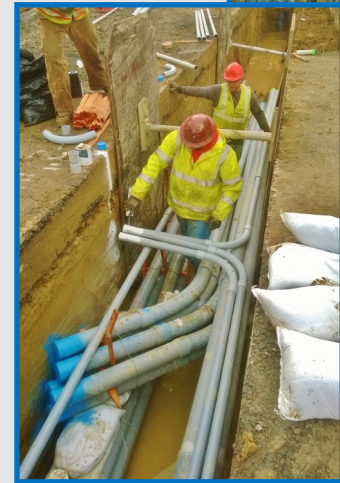

What's Coming Up?

For the week of 10/24 the contractor will continue installation of 36" pipe from the bridge to Valley Street.

The water crew will be installing 12" water main in and around Kennedy Drive.

The Joint Utility Trench (JUT— power, phone, cable) crew should be headed south from Kennedy Place toward Copper Hill Square.

Everyone is going in different directions, but we're all headed to the same place.
